

ABSTRACT

A mold insert is mountable on an inner surface of a mold cavity, the mold insert having a molding surface that is a complement of a desired molded structural feature. The mold insert is easily removed from the mold by accessing the front, inner surface of the mold cavity, to facilitate repair, replacement, or exchange of the mold insert.